Honest Morality

Written & Directed by Joseph Lipstein

6 min, Drama

Production Dates: Sept 12th- Sept. 13th

SYNOPSIS:

This contemporary drama is about two brothers, Frank and Anton. Both of who are on opposite sides of the moral spectrum... Anton makes his living from swindling CEO's in long-term schemes. Frank is a transportation engineer and all around family man. When Anton's car breaks down on his way to a scam he is forced to ask his brother for his help... When Frank refuses to lend his car to his brother, Anton steals it and severs the already loose ties between himself and Frank. But more importantly his decision distances the connection to Frank's son, Ben.²

Character Breakdowns:

Anton (Mid 20's-Late 30's): He is an aging scam artist that has no respect for people needs, but has an exceptionally soft spot for his brother's son. Anton has his own charm and energy that no one dares replicate.

Frank (late 20's-early 30's): looks to be a centerfold replica for the GAP... He is a rational man with no remorse for his slacker brother. A caring father he reluctantly keeps Anton around for his son's sake.
