

Ringling College of Art + Design

THE WALL

Written & Directed by Trace McNabb

6 mins. Comedy Drama

Production Dates: October 17- October 18, 2014

SYNOPSIS:

Chad (20's) is a shy and socially awkward nerd that's spent the last year in his apartment only leaving when necessary. He spends most of his time playing an online computer game. One day he hear's a beautiful voice of a girl coming through the wall; it's his new neighbor. He becomes infatuated with the voice. Too nervous to approach her, he starts listening to this girl through the wall. She becomes his world. His friend Nolan (20's) encourages him to approach her but has little success. Finding his old guitar, Chad attempts to connect with her through music.

kids. Nolan has been with Chad through it all, although he's never been able to understand Chad's personality. He tries to help Chad get out of his shell. He has good intentions but little patience.

CHARACTER BREAKDOWNS:

Chad - Male 20's

Chad is a shy, insecure, and socially awkward nerd. After a hard breakup with his long time girlfriend, he reverts back into a hermit. He spends most of his time in his apartment playing an online computer game, only leaving when necessary.

The Wall - Drama/Comedy

Director - Trace McNabb

Chad (20's) is a shy and socially awkward nerd that's spent the last year in his apartment only leaving when necessary. He spends most of his time playing an online computer game. One day he hear's a beautiful voice of a girl coming through the wall; it's his new neighbor. He becomes infatuated with the voice. Too nervous to approach her, he starts listening to this girl through the wall. She becomes his world. His friend Nolan (20's) encourages him to approach her but has little success. Finding his old guitar, Chad attempts to connect with her through music.

He's been in this physical and emotional shell for the past year. Online in the game he is able to be himself without fear of judgement. It is his escape from the real world and at the same time his only connection with other people, excluding his one friend, Nolan. His obsessive personality shifts from the game to this girl on the other side of wall.

Nolan - Male 20's

Nolan is a go getter. He's popular, confident, and a ladies man. He's the existential opposite of Chad. Nolan and Chad have been friends since they were kids. Nolan has been with Chad through it all, although he's never been able to understand Chad's personality. He tries to help Chad get out of his shell. He has good intentions but little patience.

Trace McNabb

Writer & Director "The Wall"

Digital Filmmaking Department Ringling College of Art and Design